

* * *

What kind of journalism is this? A recent article on the writer's meetings with authors began thus: "Although Bertrand Russell once nodded to me as he was entering and I was leaving a toilet near the British Museum - anyway, it certainly looked like Bertrand Russell - I can't claim to have met many authors." (Fleetwood Chronicle, 19.2.71)