The Grand Competition continues.

Dear Sir,

My suggestion for the title of Grattan-Guinness's book is: B*rtr*nd R*ss*ll and Ph*l*p J**rd**n on L*g*c.

Michael Bradie, Bowling Green, Oh.

Dear Sir,

I wish to enter the GRAND COM-PETITION to name I. Grattan-Guinness's book.

My first major title, and both sub-titles, are inspired by Jourdain's book The Philosophy of Mr. B*rtr*nd R*ss*ll, Allen and Unwin, 1918. I assume both you and I. G-G are familiar with it. My first entry is: The Vital Letters of R*ss*ll and J**rd**n (Was Humpty-Dumpty an Hegelian?)

My second entry may be regarded by some as an unfortunate intrusion of tackiness into an otherwise sophisticated endeavour. However, since I am a resident of the Hollywood area of Los Angeles I feel compelled to enter it anyway. It is, quite simply: Deep Logic -Russell and Jourdain Strip to the Ultimates (Even a Joke Should Have Some Meaning). Bob Davis, Hollywood, Cal.

Dear Sir,

My entry for your title competition is: A Well-Ordered Series of Letters.

This title not only refers to the subject of a disagreement between Russell and Jourdain but, more importantly, should appeal to the vanity of one of the judges. Thomas Stanley, W. Canaan, N.H.

Dear Mr. Bl*ckw*ll,

Surely the proper consequences of Mr. Grattan Guinness's fantastic competition is: The  $L^*g^{*c*l} C^{*n-}s^*q^{nc*s}$  of Mr  $B^*rtr^*nd R^*ss^*ll$ (sic) and Mr  $Ph^{*l*p} J^{rd^{n:}} a$  $p^*stscr^*pt$ . The author, of course, is Mr. *. Gr*tt*n-G**nn*ss.

Or there is: Education and the Eogical Life: how to write vital letters. Which Way to Logic in Peacetime? or, how to find the way to Winchester. A Free Man's Workshop: striking sparks from two minds. Icarus, the future of the bicycle and where it led. Ideas That have Helped Russell and Harmed Jourdain (or vice-versa).

As I have now finished my coffeebreak I must close. P*t*r [Weinrich], Codrington, Ont.
