

PERSONAL NAME INDEX TO HUMAN SOCIETY IN ETHICS AND POLITICS

KENNETH BLACKWELL
Russell Archives / McMaster University Library
Hamilton, Ont., Canada L8S 4L6

Several of Russell's books were published without an index. In the case of Human Society in Ethics and Politics (1954), this lack is especially unhelpful. To those who haven't read it, the book appears to be a treatise on metaethics and current politics. It is, but it is studded with cultural, historical and personal references—not unlike Power in that regard. The index will assist in opening up the book's contents, as well as by reminding readers where they saw discussions of the individuals concerned. This is the second in a series of reader-supplied indexes that began in Russell, no. 8 (1972). Indexes to the rest of Russell's unindexed books are welcome (anyone for Principia?).

In limiting the index to personal names (of historical, fictional or mythical individuals), groups of people are excluded. "God" also is excluded, since that is a subject. Incidentally, Russell says in the book that he has "no 'ideas of deity or of the supernatural'" (p. 94 77 77). Square-bracketed names are inferred from descriptions in the text.

In the index, the first page references are to the first British edition (London: George Allen and Unwin Ltd., 1954; 239 pp.). In bold type are the equivalent pages in the first American edition (New York: Simon and Schuster, 1955; xxi, 227 pp.). The last set of page numbers belongs to the American paperback edition (New York: Mentor Books/New American Library of World Literature, 1962; 200 pp.).
